The Dutch Association for Philosophical Practice (VFP) proudly announces hosting the 10th International Conference on Philosophical Practice. The 10th ICPP will be held from August 11 – August 14, 2010 at the International School for Philosophy (ISVW), Leusden, The Netherlands. The official language is English.

The main theme is EXPERIENCE IN PHILOSOPHICAL PRACTICE:

What can we learn from 25 years of experience in philosophical practice?

What role does the client's experience play in philosophical practice?

What can philosophical practice mean to people's experience in everyday life, in organizations, and in communities?

What role does the practitioner's experience play in philosophical practice?

We will explore this theme in the various fields of philosophical practice: individual counselling, philosophy in groups, with children, in organizations, and in (other) social and political contexts. Besides, we will pay attention to different styles and methodological approaches, like Socratic, analytic or hermeneutic.

We will also pay special attention to experiences in philosophical practice in relation to politics, citizenship, and moral education.

During the conference, the Dutch association VFP aims to initiate international cooperation on securing high level education of philosophical practitioners and certification of courses in this field.

The conference committee prepares the conference program in consultation with experienced philosophical practitioners in various countries. The time schedule is:

September 2009:

call for papers, clinics and workshops

start of registration for participation (reduced fee)

January 2010:

publication of the (draft) program

start of registration for participation (standard fee)
